

Course outline part-time Bachelor of Divinity and Certificate in Theology

Part-time students normally attempt 30 credits per semester and 60 credits (6 modules) per year - compared to the 120 (12) of full-time students - and so obtain 120 credits after two years. If the timetable for a given year allows this, it is possible to attempt fewer or lesser modules in negotiation with the Academic Dean; the duration of the course will vary accordingly. Some students choose to use Online Learning modules to ease transitions or attempt a form of blended learning.

At levels 4 and 5 students attend college on Mondays, at level 6 on Tuesday or Wednesday. At level 6, where the modules are 15 credits, students can follow one of the following patterns:

- take four modules per year over two years
- take three modules per year over three years; in the final year they can choose to write a dissertation
- take five modules over two years together with a dissertation which is undertaken last
