Validation Threshold Criteria

Threshold Criteria for Validation
	General	Team Check	Validation Check
1	The programme complies with the College's Academic Regulations. In the case of exceptional variations to the Academic Regulations having been approved by Academic Board, there is evidence of this and it is explicitly highlighted in the validation documents.
	The programme complies with the College's Degree Regulations. If it doesn't, the appropriate approval has been granted.
	The documentation is clear to all stakeholders, in particular, students (noting that the Programme Specification will be published on the collaborative Partner's website once the programme is approved through validation).
	There is clear evidence of appropriate stakeholder engagement in the development of the programme.
	The programme has been designed with the promotion of equality and widening participation in mind.
	Programme Aims and Outcomes
2	The Programme Aims and Learning Outcomes are relevant to the proposed title of the named target and intermediate exit awards.
	Learning Outcomes are explicitly specified at each relevant academic level where exit awards are available at the completion of each level.
	The Programme Aims and Learning Outcomes align to the relevant Subject Benchmark Statements , Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ) and any relevant Professional Statutory and Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) requirements.
3	Graduate Attributes
	It is clear that students completing the programme of study, either at undergraduate or postgraduate level, are provided with opportunities to develop a range of skills and knowledge that will equip them for graduate employment.

	It is evident that the programme has been designed to ensure that, as a result of their studies, students will become: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Enquiring and open to change. • Self-reliant, adaptable and flexible. • Confident in their discipline as it develops and changes over time. • Capable of working across disciplines and working well with others. • Confident in their digital capabilities. • Able to manage their own professional and personal development. • Global citizens, socially responsible and aware of the potential contribution of their work to the cultural and economic wellbeing of the community and its impact on the environment. • Leaders of people and of places. • Ambitious and proud.
	The programme curriculum fosters aspiration and career readiness through work-based, experiential and inter-professional learning. It demands research-informed teaching, drawing on industry-based knowledge and expertise.
	The programme curriculum includes content which is relevant to the world of work, emphasises problem-solving and the interaction of theory and practice. The programme will challenge students intellectually, promoting independence and confidence. Assessment on the programme is authentic and effective feedback has been considered to enable student success and achievement.
	Curriculum
4	There is a coherent curriculum which supports the achievement of the intended learning outcomes. Is there evidence of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Careful design and scaffolding which promotes student learning and development? • Effective induction/transition arrangements into appropriate level/s of HE, including for international/distance/flexible learners?

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Knowledge and understanding in line with the FHEQ and relevant Subject Benchmark Statements? • Cognitive, subject specific and transferable skills, as well as graduate capabilities? • Employability and lifelong learning; career planning skills, work experience/placements, enterprising skills/attitudes and institutional employability initiatives? • Opportunities for students to undertake personal development planning for their future professional aspirations? • PSRB requirements, where appropriate?
5	Learning and Teaching
	Does the programme, when taken across the modules: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Provide a stimulating, engaging, intellectually challenging experience for students? • Align with the programme learning outcomes? • Provide sufficient time for learning activities which include input from tutors to support student achievement? • Promote inclusive practice, addressing the needs of a range of learner types and minimising the need for additional reasonable adjustments to support students with disabilities and specific learning needs? • Use learning technology to the best advantage of students to promote student learning? • Provide active learning and social learning opportunities? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ For distance learning, are online and flexible modes of study, opportunities for active-learning and social learning explicitly provided within the curriculum? • Ensure that the design, pedagogy, delivery and support of learning, and personal tutoring is appropriate to the mode(s) of delivery? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Are engagement and facilitation models for distance, online and flexible learning clearly articulated? • Promote the principles of an internationalised curriculum?
	For distance, online and flexible provision, the technology required to deliver the programme is understood by the team and adjustments are made to learning and teaching to exploit the affordances of the technology.

6	Assessment
	There is a programme assessment strategy which, when taken across the modules is relevant to the context/mode in which the student is learning, and: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Has been designed to provide a creative and balanced assessment strategy across the programme. • Has an assessment schedule that avoids ‘bunching’. • Is optimised for the chosen modes of delivery. • Enables the valid testing of the programme learning outcomes and provides a range of engaging and intellectually challenging opportunities. • Promotes assessment for learning to enable the development of independent learning. • Provides a relevant and practicable workload which enables timely feedback (formative and summative), anonymous marking (where practical and possible), and demonstrates how student engagement in feedback takes place.
7	Entry Requirements
	The entry requirements and admission arrangements are in line with the Collaborative Partner’s Admissions Policy, are appropriate to the award, and designed to widen participation and promote access by international students.
8	Student Progression and Achievement
	It is clear how students develop through the programme and what students must achieve in order to progress through the programme and to attain the award in line with the College’s Academic Regulations.
	In the case of revalidations, transitional arrangements are clearly articulated and in line with the relevant policy and procedures within the partner organisation.
	For access/foundation provision; there is a clear progression pathway(s) to a suitable validated programme.

9	Student Support and Guidance
	The programme encompasses and delivers the intentions of the Student Support Framework.
	There is an appropriate strategy for academic and pastoral support and: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tutorial arrangements for distance, online and flexible modes of study provide a comparable experience to those experienced by campus-based students.
	In terms of a diverse student body and a range of learning modes, there is support and guidance in place to ensure an appropriate UK HE experience is experienced.
	Provision of learner support is accessible via a range of media meeting the needs of all students, including distance, online, and flexible learners.
	There is an appropriate strategy for the academic and pastoral support of students whilst participating in work-based provision and other off campus learning with appropriate supporting materials (e.g. Placement Handbook).
	Technical requirements of distance, online or flexible study (minimum computer/software/bandwidth) are clearly articulated.
	Arrangements for IT and technical support are appropriate for a student studying at a distance using their own devices.
10	Learning Resources
	The collective expertise of the academic team is appropriate for the programme provision, including an understanding of the differing demands of the different modes of study being proposed.
	The academic team have the appropriate level of learning and teaching qualifications and expertise to deliver the programme. Teaching staff should be recognised at D2, ¹ and above of the UK Professional Standards Framework, or be working towards this achievement.

¹ Fellow in the Higher Education Academy as defined in the UK Professional Standards Framework.

	There is appropriate general and specialist teaching accommodation and equipment available.
	There are sufficient and appropriate learning resources available to all students. For students on distance, online and flexible programmes, the required resources are available in digital formats, and that relevant licence agreements for digital resources make appropriate resources available to all students.
	Learning resources are accessible across different learning contexts, including where students have special needs.
11	Quality Management and Enhancement
	The quality management and enhancement arrangements are in line with the quality policies and procedures approved within the partner organisation, and are designed to actively engage students in the evaluation and development of the programme.
	There are clear mechanisms for assuring the quality and suitability of work-based and other forms of off-campus learning.
